STUDENT COUNCIL

For the year 1956-57 the Student Council elected the following officers: president, Harvey Mitchell; vice-president, Donald Sturgeon; secretary, Jane Read; treasurer, Nancy Oakes. Class representatives to the council are as follows: seniors, Nancy Oakes, Jane Read, Harvey Mitchell, Donald Sturgeon; juniors, Marjorie Braden, Nancy Cloutier, Francis Oakes, Stephen Thibault; sophomores, Gloria Ouellette, Jean Parady, George LeBlanc, Edward Mallett.

Early in the school year, the council sponsored the annual Sophomore Reception. In November Marjorie Bradeen, Gloria Ouellette, and Jean Parady were delegated to represent the school at the State Student Council Convention, which was sponsored by the Maine Association of Student Councils of which this Council is a member. Once again, the council conducted a magazine sales project. Some of the proceeds were used in the sponsoring of the annual Christmas party and in assisting some school groups which needed financial aid.

In place of the several assemblies with outside speakers, which the council has usually sponsored, the group voted this year to purchase a television set for the school's use. Members felt that this would frequently serve school groups for special programs and for educational programs. To supplement other funds, the proceeds from the State Championship Booster Buttons sale were turned over to the television fund. This sale was conceived as a way to pay tribute to Old Town's very successful basketball team, and the sale was so well received that it proved to be a money-making project.

From time to time the council has discussed matters of common interest to both pupils and faculty members. These have been presented by both groups in the interest of the school. On March 30, Nancy Cloutier represented the council at the annual meeting of the Central Maine Student Council.

The members of the Student Council would like to thank Principal John Abbott for his excellent leadership in acting as advisor.

The senior members are Thomas Anderson, Thomas Chappelle, and Howard Sibley.

The club functions by showing films to classes in chemistry, physics, home economics, biology, English, and physical education. The operators also showed movies for the Christmas assembly and a film for the Future Teachers of America Club.

The junior members were awarded lapel pins for services rendered during their sophomore year.

The club is grateful to Mr. Alan Cederstrom for his supervision.

MY FAVORITE AMERICAN

I have thought a lot about whom I could name as my favorite American, and I have come to a decision. The person that I have chosen is the one who gets me up in the morning and who washes and irons my clothes. This person gets my meals and sees me off to school on time. She comforts me in time of sorrow and laughs with me in time of joy. I do not know of anyone who works harder than this person does for her family. There were times when I thought some of her decisions were quite harsh, but as I grow older, I realize that they are all for my own good. You can probably guess who this person is. Who else but my mother?

JOHN BARNES '57

THE SPIRIT OF AMERICA

The United States will not be defeated in the cause of freedom for which it stands. When the Pilgrims landed in 1620, they brought with them the cornerstone of American history. This cornerstone was the need for freedom. The desire of these people for peace and liberty enabled the United States to become the greatest freedom-loving country in the world. It was no easy struggle to rise to America's present level of liberty. It took the sweat and strain of millions to build this nation, and many people have given their lives to preserve its independence. The selfish whim of another country can never undermine the cause for which Americans have so nobly fought, that liberty which they cherish. Only the geography of the United States is limited by boundaries. The spirit of the United States is truth and freedom. Freedom will never die in the hearts of loyal countrymen. A country dedicated to its people will never fail.

MARTIN DAVIS '57

I WILL LIFT UP MY EYES

I lift up my eyes and see the hills.
Rearing their heads above the plains, they remind me that the contour of my life need not be dark valleys and monotonous plains alone; there can be heights also. Great dreams, towering hopes, and memorable blessings can and do punctuate the landscape of my life. God's gift of mountains to the earth is paralleled by His gift of significant moments to my soul.

I lift up my eyes and see fields white unto harvest. A world cries out for me and my efforts. Tasks surround me, responsibilities press in upon me, and I cannot delay, for who knows how much time I have left? Most of all, my fellowmen may be lost if I do not bring them God's word of hope.

I lift up my eyes and see God. In the handiwork of His created world I see Him. In the Word of His revelation I see Him, as He becomes the living Word in Jesus Christ. In the millions in need, both those near at hand and those in distant lands, I see Him.

Keeping my eyes to the ground, absorbed in the triviality of daily distractions, I may fail to see. Lifting up my eyes, however, I may see. And seeing, I shall live!

TEACHERS, TO MACHINES, TO TEACHERS

We, the students, are confronted with a problem of such extreme gravity as to stagger the minds of even the world's greatest intellectuals. The conditions which once existed in the era of the little red schoolhouse are no longer prevalent. No longer is the student regarded as an individualistic human being with a mind of his own. In place of the kind, gentle, considerate words which once flowed sweetly from the mouths of our teachers, we now hear nothing but words of derision and anger. The truth is that our teachers have been caught up in the turbulent tide of present day automation.
They have dispensed with all human emotions; their minds have become nothing but cold, calculating machines, which have the will to control but know not the meaning of democracy. The relentless control which our teachers are now exercising over the poor defenseless students threatens to crack the minds and egos of even the most stalwart of us and turn us into a group of senseless introverts with no goal but to submit to the will of this newly-formed bureaucracy.

Having examined this problem from every conceivable angle, I find not one but three possible methods of meeting the dilemma. Let us examine each solution individually and decide, if possible, upon the most logical method of approach.

The first solution is outright revolt. This method has definite possibilities. Among its merits is the fact that it would be by far the quickest way. It would decide once and for all the age-old question:
"Should the caste system be brought back?" The main evil, however, of this solution is the violence which it might entail. There might even be blood shed, and it could be a student's.

The second solution is to fight fire with fire. This method might involve a great deal more complexity than the first method; however, its dividends might also be greater. Since the teachers have become so machine-like in their actions and seem to be satisfied with nothing but cold, merciless efficiency, it would be quite easy to turn these teachers against one another by making each one believe that the other is trying to outdo him. Thus the unity of their bureaucracy would be broken, and the students could easily take over. There is, however, one flaw in this chain of reasoning. If the relationship between the teachers developed into a competitive race to outdo one another in productive efficiency, the students might then be the ones to suffer, for each teacher might then drive his students that much harder in order to increase the scholastic productivity of his particular class. Then this method also would have its definite drawbacks.

The third solution is to restore their emotions. This procedure is probably the longest and most tedious of the three, but it also is the only one which could re-establish the former relationship between teachers and students. First, teachers would have to understand the meaning of sympathy. Students could act beaten and suppressed in class. The girls could weep softly during recitation and sigh heavily when given long assignments. The boys could curve their backs and hang their heads while ambling slowly into class and gaze blankly into space as if trying to remember a long-forgotten world. If this system worked, it probably would produce the best results, but the greatest drawback is that machines are not capable of registering sympathy, and the teachers have behaved like machines for so long that all our efforts could go for naught.

Therefore, having examined the problem and presented three possible solutions, I hereby absolve myself of all responsibility. I'm leaving here in June, and my worries will be over. This little problem will have to be settled by the troubled underclassmen.

LANDING THE KING OF THE BROOK

To catch the crafty and energetic brook trout in the hot, restless days of summer is a task which requires practice, skill of the rod, and patience. The most difficult and grueling part of the undertaking is one's approach to the brook. Avoiding woodland obstacles while approaching the stream is vitally important. Any misstep that would result in a slight jarring of the ground would warn the crafty "king of the brook."

Having gained unnoticed a position at the edge of the brook, the fisherman prepares his line with lure suitable for the kind of weather and depth of water. If the day is hot and sunny, the trout usually loiter near the bank and in deep water. Such conditions require the use of attractive deep-water spinners. If the trout are feeding on bugs and flies, suitable surface lure is needed to land the king of the brook.

A wise choice of line can mean the difference between landing a brookie or coming home empty-handed. If the line is coarse and easily detectable, the trout will hesitate to strike; however, if the line is fine, yet durable enough to withstand the shock of the strike, the fisherman will land the trout.

Telling how to catch this popular Maine game fish is easier than actually landing one. Many tourists who come to Maine with the idea that they can easily obtain their limit often leave empty-handed and discouraged. Underestimating the agility and wit of the trout is the principal reason why anglers return home with their favorite saying, "I almost caught the King of the Brook."

IDOLS: THE MEASURE OF MATURITY

"We are what our most cherished thoughts make us," and we take a step toward maturity when our idols, those people whose achievements we wish to set as our goal, become significant.

A young person who has an inclination toward the field of science might choose as his idol the great chemist, Joseph Priestley, or the renowned physicist, Sir Isaac Newton. One motivated toward diplomacy might have great admiration for John Foster Dulles or Trygve Lie and wish to attain such honors as these great statesmen have won. Another might desire to rise to great heights as a second John Barrymore or a Cornelia Otis Skinner. Greater still are those whose ambition is to surpass their idols' achievements.

As children, some people dream of driving a bright red fire truck or running the projector at the movie theater. Children hold even the trapeze artist in great esteem. Some people never reach that point of maturity where their idols become really significant; they retain as their idol perhaps the knife-thrower that fascinated them at the circus; or they set as their goal of achievement a guitar-strumming, would-be vocalist. They are content in their little self-confined dream world of childhood even though they have become adults.

In another class are those who plod on day after day with no goal and no idol. They cannot see beyond the thought that "what was good enough for father and grandfather is good enough for me." They see no brighter future, and they continue in the same drab occupations for life. These occupations may be good and necessary, and there are many who are suited for only such tasks, but the fact remains that if we place our thoughts and ideals high, our achievements will reach a greater height than if we are content to remain stagnant.

With adulthood should come maturity. Greater and nobler ambitions should take precedence and become paramount. In order that our lives may be lived to the fullest, we must strive to achieve those heights which are obtained only by setting our goal on or even above the achievements of our idol. It has been said that "the vision that you glorify in your mind — the Ideal that you enthrone in your heart — this you will build your life by, this you will become."

ANOTHER DAY

'Tis midnight now and the day is done,
And now another day has begun.
Till morning comes, the stars shine bright
In the dark and gloomy subdued light.
When morning comes, they disappear,
Behind the light that's so bright and clear,
And when the day has progressed so far,
The sun dips west under the evening star.
Twilight comes. Gone is the sun.
'Tis midnight now and the day is gone.

THE RESPONSIBILITY OF AMERICAN YOUTH

There are many points of view concerning the teenagers' responsibility to society. Experts on the subject can not agree on a concrete statement which will satisfactorily answer the question: What should be the teenagers' responsibility to society? Before expressing my ideas on the topic, I should like to define the terms of the question as I interpret them. There seem to be only three controversial terms — teenagers, responsibility, and society. When speaking of teenagers, I refer to youth between the ages of thirteen and twenty. Responsibility means their obligation to moral law and ethics — those works and actions for which they are answerable or accountable. By society I mean the collective body of people joined together for the purpose of government, or, more specifically, the community, state, and nation.

The true responsibility of all teenagers is to become good citizens of their community, state and nation. In carrying out this responsibility, all teenagers must do two things. First they should strive to educate themselves to the best of their ability. Getting a good education should not be difficult since all the youth in our country are offered the opportunity to attend public schools. Just to attend these institutions, however, is not enough. The responsibility of youth is to get something out of school, to make the hours spent there worth-while by trying to absorb all the knowledge offered through reading, experimentation, and discussion. It has been proved that an educated people will lead the world. The second thing which teenagers must do if they are to be good citizens is to accept the responsibilities inherent in leadership. There are many who can be followers, but only few who can be leaders.

In summary I would like to offer one statement which I feel may be a practical answer to our question. Taking education seriously and assuming the duties of leadership constitute the teenagers' responsibility to society.

A TRUE TEACHER

There are many different views of a perfect teacher. Many people believe that the teacher's job is merely to make children acquainted with well-known fields of knowledge and to develop such skills as reading, writing, speaking, and mathematics. Other people say that teachers should attempt to implant in pupils proper ideals, attitudes, and beliefs; but this attempt often leads to a serious problem, for some teachers take it for granted that the attitudes, values, and beliefs that young people ought to hold are the same as those which the teacher has adopted. A third view of professional teaching holds that the teacher should try to see that all the needs of all the pupils are met. According to this latter view, the teacher should know and understand every student. She should be acquainted with the parents of each child and have a full knowledge of his home background. She should take responsibilities for the child's physical and mental health and should be on the alert for evidence that a student needs medical, dental, or psychiatric care. Instead of giving all the students the same tests and assignments, the teacher should provide opportunities for each pupil to develop his own capacities at his own rate of speed and at his own level of ability. The teacher should have a rich, stimulating personality. She should keep abreast of current affairs and read widely not only in her own field but also in related areas. She should maintain good health and be energetic, taking an active part in social and civic affairs and cultivating satisfying hobbies. A true teacher is one who advances the art of learning and instills within her pupils the proper ideals of character and government.

CINDERELLA IN THE CLOUDS

As I look up toward the sky and watch the sunset, I also notice the clouds drifting lazily along. I am reminded of the fairy tale of "Cinderella." Directly above me is a pretty, fluffy cloud that makes me think of Cinderella's fairy god-mother. To the west of the fairy god-mother is the sun, the color of a pumpkin. Immediately Cinderella's coach comes to my mind. As a group of small clouds float by the sun, I can picture the mice, transformed into horses, pulling the coach. A little beyond all this is a huge and lonely grey cloud, the castle, with more clouds between the coach and the castle forming a road. Now I see a cloud, a misty color, and I think of Cinderella. As night begins to cover the earth, the step-mother and step-sisters of Cinderella come into view, but a small twinkle brightens up the sky. The first star, which I think of as the glass slipper, descends toward the grey castle. Darkness has now fallen, and Cinderella in the clouds is just a dream.

SUCCESS

What is success? What does it mean to you? The dictionary defines success as the degree or measure of obtaining a desired object or goal. Success holds various meanings for different people. To the carpenter it may comprise his wood-working; to an architect it may mean the creation of a dream building; to a young woman it may include becoming a wife and mother; to the artist it may center upon the creation by his hands of a sculpture or a painting; and to the student it may be the mastery of a difficult subject. Success is the achievement of a goal which will bring a person great happiness. The road will be easy at times and at other times difficult. It may mean giving up friends and dear possessions. As a person reaches the final steps in achieving his goal, the road becomes more and more difficult, but when a person reaches his goal, his feeling of success is so great that it supersedes all previous emotions.

THE STATE OF MAINE CHAMPS

Have you heard of the wonderful Old Town team,
That was always ready and on the beam?
It won all the games there were to play
(except Bangor),
With one goal in mind—"Go all the way."
Boston, Mass., was the destination,
For Maine's great basketball sensation.
Yes, they made it—"all the way."
For the State of Maine Champs, let's shout hooray!

VARSITY BASKETBALL

With the state championship as their goal, Coach John Killilea's determined Indians began their campaign for the state crown late in October. The hustling Indians, with their unstoppable fast breaks, smooth ball handling, outstanding shooting ability, and tight defense, obtained this goal in late March by defeating Edward Little High School for the state crown by a score of 75-69.

At the Eastern Maine Tourney, Old Town defeated Lawrence High of Fairfield and Bangor High to get to the finals. They squared off against Stearns High for the Eastern Maine Crown. Stearns was no match for the top condition, fast breaking Old Town Club, as the Indians downed the Minutemen 77-66.

Having obtained their primary goal, Old Town went to Boston to represent Maine in the New Englands, but fate took its toll as Old Town's fighting Indians were defeated in the closing minutes in the quarter-finals by Manchester Central of New Hampshire, by a score of 90-82. It was an outstanding game in which seven new scoring records were set. Old Town's Skip Chappelle scored 38 points for a new individual scoring record.

Co-captain Skip Chappelle was chosen All-New England. He was nearly unanimous as a choice for the All-Maine Team. Skip was unanimous in being voted to the Eastern Maine Tourney Five. Co-captain Don Sturgeon was also named to the All-Maine Team, and was a unanimous choice for the Eastern Maine Tourney Five.

Durwood Pond was named to the second All-Maine Team and the second Eastern Maine Tourney Five. Ed Delaware was named to the third All-Maine Team and the second Eastern Maine Tourney Five.

Harvey Mitchell and Chet Littlefield received honorable mention to the All-

Maine team.

Other players who saw a lot of action were Tom Cyr and Paul Guerin. Players who also helped make the team a success were Tom Anderson, Marty Davis, Dick Leonard, and Walt McAllister.

In addition to the state crown and Eastern Maine title, the Indians won permanent possession of the P. V. C. trophy. Old Town was awarded a Broggi trophy by Nason College. Also, the Department of Maine American Veterans of World War II presented a very large trophy to Old Town at the spring athletic banquet.

The man who helped clinch the team's success is Coach John Killilea. Coach Killilea is rated among the top schoolboy basketball coaches. Supporting the team and the coach was the faithful and efficient manager, James King.

TRACK - 1956

Under the successful guidance of Coach Raymond Gove, the Old Town track team completed another fine season. The 1956 track team went undefeated in three meets. The team also won the P. V. C. title. Old Town placed seventh in the state meet.

Credit again goes to Captain Harvey Mitchell. Harvey was the team's most consistent point gainer, winning nearly all his events at each meet. Harvey placed first in the high jump at the state meet, and sixth in the broad jump in the New Englands.

Coach Gove's last track season at Old Town High School was one that rated well with his other outstanding seasons.

Seniors on the 1956 team were Wendell Davis, Don Madden, Wilfred Martin, Randolph Ouellette, Robert Shaw, and

CROSS COUNTRY

The Old Town cross country squad faced many hardships in the 1956 season, both squad and coach being relatively inexperienced. Only two were returning lettermen.

The squad always showed plenty of drive and heart and never gave up hope of victory. Although they did not win any meet, they did show well in the State Meet, finishing sixth.

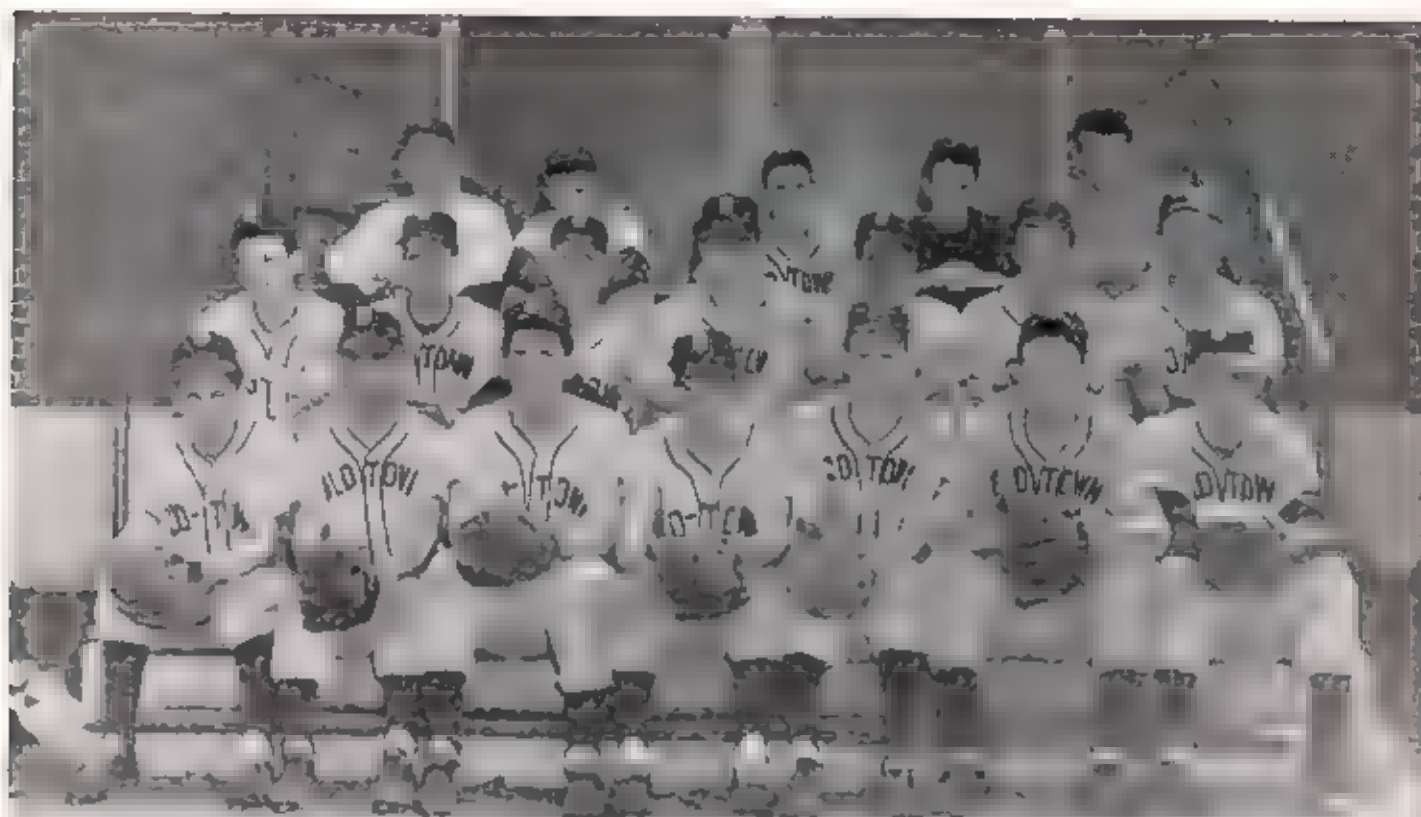

The 1956 letter winners were as follows: senior, Martin Michaud; juniors, Wesley Darling, Dave McKinnon, and Captain Francis Oakes; sophomore, Douglas Lasky; frosh, Cal Cloutier.

The Jayvee squad runners were Paul Baillargeon, Billy Dionne, Ronald Hall, James Sappier, and Matthew St. John.

Captain Francis Oakes and Martin Michaud represented Old Town in the New Englands.

BASEBALL 1956

After a long delay because of a late spring, Coach Bernard MacKenzie issued the call for all baseball candidates to report. After one cut, fifteen men were chosen for the team.

The squad enjoyed a good season with five wins and three losses. The fielding was ragged in spots, mainly because of a poor field on which to practice. A new field is expected to be completed and ready for use in the 1957 season.

The pitching duties were taken care of by two underclassmen. "Lefty" Durwood Pond, a junior, and "Righty" Wayne Turner, a sophomore, pitched excellent ball throughout the season. The catching chores were handled by Dick Sturgeon. In the infield were Tom Oakes, Don Sturgeon, Willie Martin, Bob Dumond, and Tom Cyr. Handling the outfield duties were Ed Delaware, Chesley Littlefield, Skip Chappelle, Paul Guerin, and Howard Folster. The managers were William Feero and Fred King.

The team tied with Ellsworth for the P. V. C. championship. The fact that eight lettermen will be returning could mean a top season in 1957.

GIRLS' SOFTBALL 1956

A most successful team ended its 1956 season with a record of five wins and one loss, under the excellent coaching of Mr. Abner Toothaker.

One of the most exciting games was with Bucksport, resulting in a one-point victory for the Indianettes. The team was defeated only once, by an outstanding Ellsworth team.

At graduation last year, the team lost five outstanding players, as well as their popular coach, Mr. Abner Toothaker.

Best of luck to the girls of next year's team and to all the teams that follow. There will be good and bad seasons, but if the sportsmanship of Old Town prevails, there will always be success.

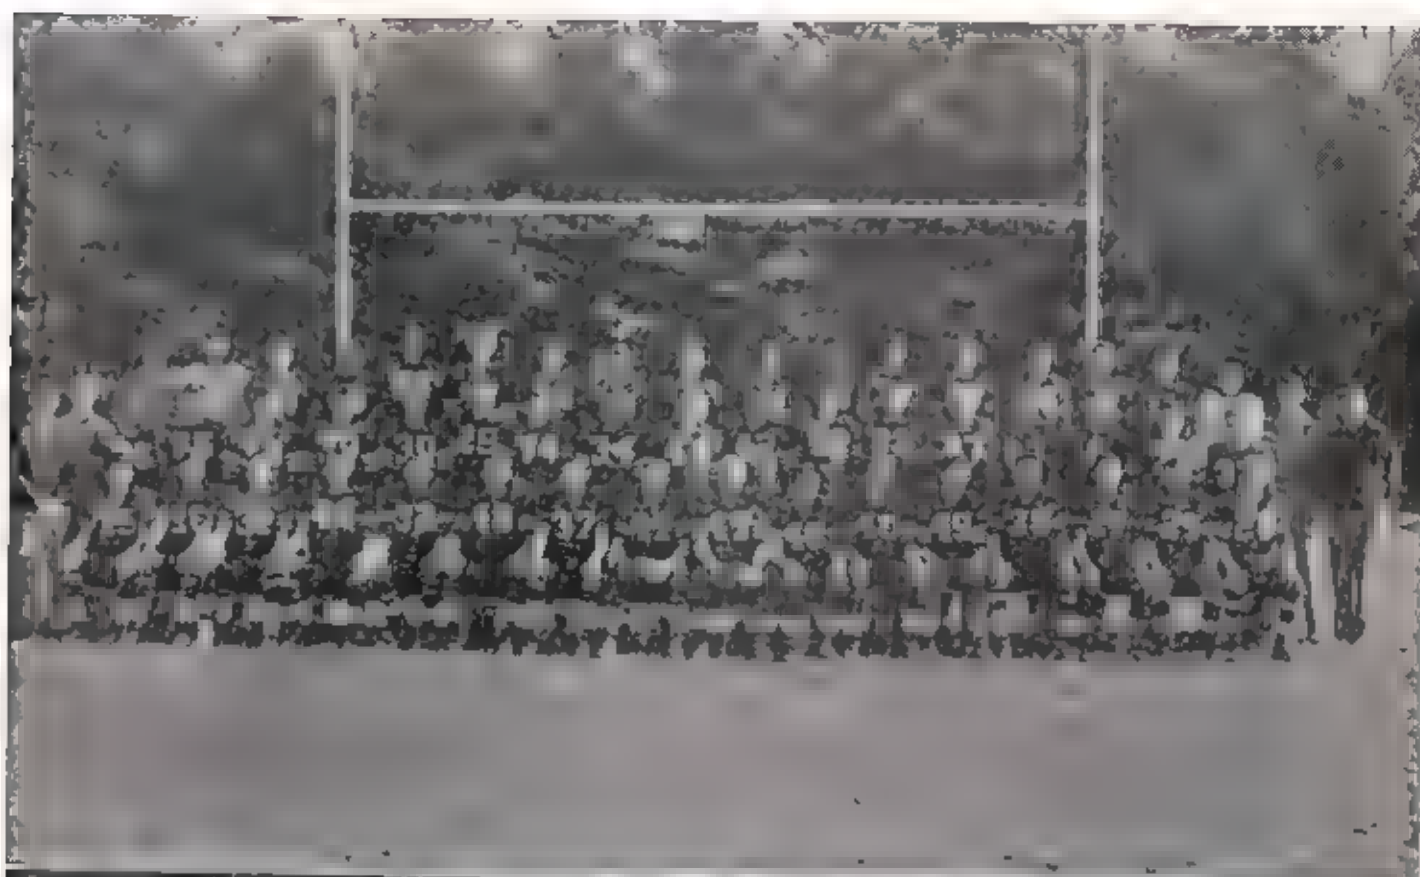

The members of the softball team were as follows: seniors, Calista Sargent, Shirley

JAYVEE BASKETBALL

The Old Town Jayvees proved again this year that Old Town has one of the best Jayvee teams in the state. The Jayvees extended the amazing streak of consecutive victories to 63. The streak was stopped by a well-balanced Waterville team. The team then started on a new winning streak by winning the remaining five games. The team finished the season with a fine record of fifteen wins and one loss.

The Junior Indians over the past few years have won 67 out of 68 games.

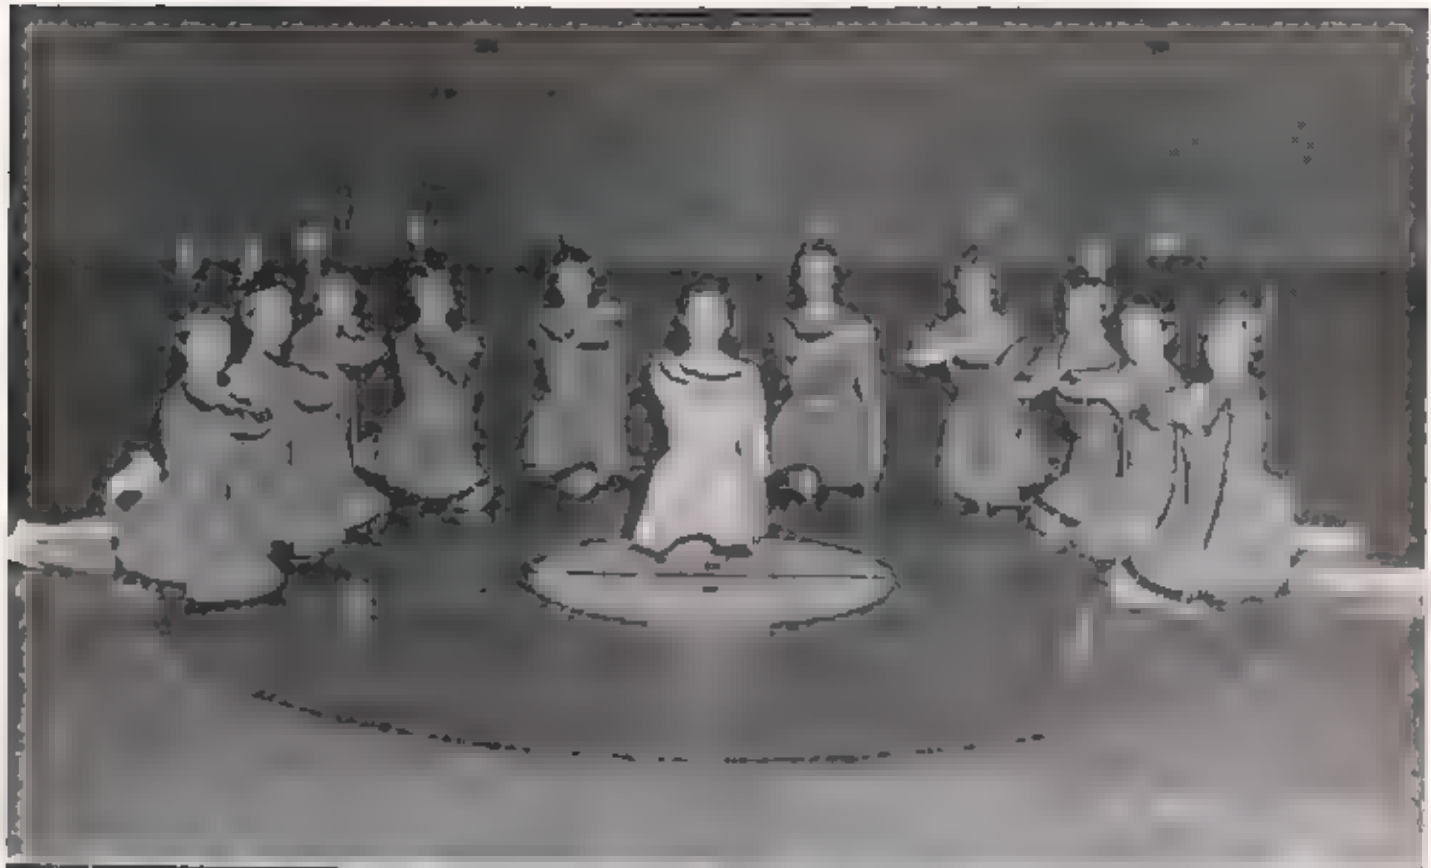

The members who played a great deal for the squad were Ernest Gallant, Stephen Thibault, Francis Oakes, William Dionne, Joseph Cyr, Gary Eldridge, Robert Gauthier, and Harold Cunningham.

Other players who saw plenty of action were Stanley Fish, Ralph Guay, Wayne Turner, Kenneth Lousier, Harold Young, James Sappier, Beverly Paradis, Ronald Paradis, and George LeBlanc.

MAJORETTES

The majorettes started their season this year with seven girls, including three juniors, Nancy Brown, Norma Burns, and Sandra Lee, and four sophomores, Jean Parady, Lynda Wadleigh, Judy Thibault, and Addie Lou Ogden. Mr. Frank Grant, the instructor, appointed Sandra Lee to be the leader.

The Old Town High School flag, donated to the school by the class of 1956, was added to the colorguard. The girls appointed to be color guards were Judy Thibault, Jean Parady, Norma Burns, and Addie Lou Ogden. At the beginning of basketball season four new girls were selected to become majorettes. They were Mary Lou Ouellette, Judy Stairs, Joan Sulinski, and Judy Robbins.

At the basketball games the majorettes added much color to the half-time shows with their gaily decorated headdresses. The girls participated in all of the tournament games and represented the school in Boston at the New Englands. The Athletic Association made the trip possible. The girls also participated in the Maine Music Festival which was held in Old Town May 4.

The majorettes express gratitude to their coach, Mr. Frank Grant, for his instruction and direction, and to Principal John Abbott for his interest and help.

ATTENTION!

We, the class of 1957, being in sound mind and body, hereby bequeath all our many virtues and talents to the inferior junior class.

To Tommy "The Short One" Cyr, Harvey "The Brawn" Mitchell is leaving his phenomenal athletic ability.

To any worthy junior, Mike "Reject" Cushing leaves his incredible method of solving math problems.

To Robert "The Rock" Burr, Peter "The Chemist" Emmett leaves the poor old chemistry lab. It is certainly going to be empty in there without Pete, Bob.

To that dashing, darling debonair of a football player, Richard "Big Boy" Jenkins, Paul "Guerilla" Guerin leaves the cast he has for his nose.

To Terry "The Innocent" Day, Paul "Digger" Baillargeon leaves his comical jokes which he used for disorganizing classes.

To Richard "Slim" Murphy, James "Bones" Preble leaves his skeleton to build up.

To Marjorie "Brains" Bradeen, Nancy "Whirlwind" Oakes leaves the trials and tribulations of the Sachem.

To John "Satchmo" Cowan, Walter "Hopeless" Howe leaves all his hard earned ranks.

To Frank "The Rover" Carr, Alan "On the Prowl" Reynolds leaves a map of the U. of M.

To Nancy "Short Stuff" Brown, Sandra "Stretch" Willey leaves some of her height, along with the motto, "Stand up and grow tall."

To Linda "Rock and Roll" Stewart, Jeannette "Hep Cat" Doucette leaves her dancing shoes.

To James "Curly" King, James "Toni" Taylor leaves his curlers to use nightly.

To Robert "Gleem" Dow, Ed "The Greyhound" Delaware leaves his good sense of humor with the warning, "Watch out for the serious teachers."
